“ Wilbur and Marie lived across Panama Ave. from me. They were a sweet old couple that occasionally needed assistance from neighbors. Once, Wilbur fell and landed in the bathtub. He wasn't hurt but being a big guy, it was pretty difficult getting him up. He had other episodes all as a result of his Parkinson's. After Wilbur passed, Marie also fell. She slipped on ice and laid out in front of her garage for hours. Luckily, my neighbor Sue spotted her. That could have turned out badly. It was very cold that day and she was shivering uncontrollably. I lost track of Marie when she moved and I'm happy to see that she made it to the ripe old age of 97. My condolences to family and friends. R.I.P.
