“ Bob was never one to shy away from hard work and always ready to lend a helping hand to a neighbor in need. Quick with a smile and always a joke or two in his back pocket. I always thought of Bob as a rugged man with a big heart. The closest to a modern day John Wayne I know. Made the world a better place.

“ While I lost my love, so many people lost him also. If laughter is the best medicine, he was a major dispenser with his quick wit, sarcasm and jokes. His generosity, his creativity, his love of nature, wow I could go on and on. He will be missed by so many.

“ Papa was a force to reckon with. The gentle giant with a heart made for Nana. I will always cherish the way he loved and adored my nana. He wasn't blood, but lord know he was the closest thing to it. Every-time i see a beautiful old school car, I instantly think of papa and the chicken dip after a car show. I'll never forget bothering him in his workshop to go sit in his cool cars. He is the one who taught me how to barrel run down the hill to pass time. I raced my cousins and siblings every chance I got. That's one thing I'll never forget. I know he is painting those sunsets perfect for nana being on the other side. May you rest in peace and watch over all of us. We sure need it.

“ My condolences to Kris and family. Whenever I ran into Bob, he always had a smile and a firm handshake. I still remember when I first met Bob and Kris having been introduced by Terry at the VFW in Hampshire. R.I.P.
